SINGLETON HODGE DIES AT PRINCETON

The Hon. Singleton Hodge, age 87 years, died at his home on South Jefferson street, Princeton, Sunday morning at four o'clock following an illness incident to old age.

Mr. Hodge was born in Livingston county, near Old Union church, now a part of Crittenden county, on June 22, 1834. He was married to Miss Kitty Dancy Coleman in 1857. Beginning the practice of law when quite a young man, Mr. Hodge followed that profession up to within a few months of his death. In his early practice he was a partner of the Hon. S. Marble of Princeton, with offices here at Marion. He was regarded as one of the best lawyers in Western Kentucky.

ANNOUNCES FOR CIRCUIT JUDGE

Hon. Ruby Laffoon, of Madisonville, was in Marion last week in interest of his candidacy for Circuit Judge of this district, comprising of the counties of Crittenden, Caldwell, Hopkins and Livingston. He announces his candidacy subject to the action of the Democratic primary in this issue of the Press.

The Madisonville Hustler says of Mr. Laffoon and his candidacy:

There are occasions when The Hustler is called upon to make announcements of candidates for certain offices and in which editorial mention is called for that it is a difficult matter for the newspaper man to say things complimentary of the candidates without feeling a mental strain when he calls attention to the one seeking preferment.

But here comes a candidate seeking public favor, who comes with a record so clean, whose ability is so well recognized, who is so well qualified for the position he seeks, that we feel no hesitancy in speaking a good word for the man. All this refers to Hon. Ruby Laffoon, one of our own well known citizens who seeks the office of Circuit Judge for the Fourth District, composed of Hopkins, Caldwell, Crittenden and Livingston.

Mr. Laffoon announces himself as a candidate, subject to the Democratic primary to be held August 6, 1921. At present it is well known that he will have no opposition in Hopkins county and probably not in the District for the nomination. Be that as it may, Hopkins county will stand by his candidate on that day and when he receives the nomination—as he most probably will—at the November election, we feel safe in saying that his majority will be the largest ever before given any candidate for that position in any previous election.

That Mr. Laffoon is well qualified for the office which he seeks, none will dispute. He is a lawyer well learned and trained in his profession, has a fine judicial mind, is popular with the people who know—and we all know him—is a fine campaigner, a loyal democrat, a fairminded Christian gentleman, one who is worthy the respect and confidence of the whole people.

With Ruby Laffoon as the democratic nominee for the judgeship of the district, we feel safe in saying that the four counties composing the district, will on the second Tuesday of November roll up such a majority for the party as shall rejoice the hearts of every democrat of every voting precinct within the confines of the district.

CHAUTAUQUA ASSURED FOR NEXT YEAR

The Womans Club, the organization that worked so valiantly in selling tickets for the Redpath Chautauqua for this season, have by their efforts secured nearly one hundred guarantors to sign contract for next year Chautauqua. We are therefore assured of a Chautauqua for next year in our city. The ladies are to be complimented for their work this year. The deficit was somewhat smaller this year than of former years.

The seven day program with both afternoon and evening entertainments was exceptionally good from every standpoint and measured up to the usual high class Redpath standard. The lectures were on timely topics and delivered by men who were well versed on their subjects.

The musical programs were all high class. The National Male Quartet was a feature above the average heard on the American platform. Two plays were given this year. The Ben Greet Players presented Shakespeare's play "As You Like It" which was greatly enjoyed by the lovers of Shakespeare. "The Man From Home" presented by a New York cast was full of thrilling situations, bubbling humor and clever acting, all of which tended to make this play an exceptionally popular attraction. The largest attendance of the week was present on that night. The program of the week closed with a musical prelude by the Davis sisters, Trumpesters, better known as the "Sammie Sisters." Their concert which was enjoyed by everyone, was followed by Ralph Bingham, one of America's greatest fun makers.

WEDDING IN CORYDON

One of the prettiest events of the season and one which caused much favored comment was the beautiful church wedding of Miss Fern Kopp and Mr. R. Malcolm Dollar which was solemnized at eight thirty on Sunday evening, June 19th at Heidelberg Church, Corydon, Ind. Rev. J. G. Moore pastor of the Methodist church officiating. Relatives and intimate friends were in attendance for the vows and reception which followed.

Before the ceremony two violin selections "Because" and Perfect Day were beautifully rendered by Miss Margaret Schlump of Ashland Ky., friend of the bride. Following this Miss Mary Dollar of Marion Kentucky, sister of the groom sweetly sang "Oh Promise Me" and I Love You Truly.

Promptly at the appointed hour at the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, the ushers entered the front vestibule of the main aisle followed by Miss Clarke of Louisville, cousin of the bride, who served as bridesmaid and was charming in green organdie carrying an armful of Columbia roses and who was accompanied by Mr. Edward Booker of Louisville who acted as best man.

Preceding the wedding couple was little Miss Evelyn Hottle, cousin of the bride who acted as flower girl. The bride was charming in a beautiful gown of white corded tulle. Her veil of tulle was becomingly caught to her dark hair with a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses. The bride, daughter of the late Mr. Charles Kopp of Indianapolis, has visited frequently in Marion and has many friends. The groom who formerly resided here has a host of friends who wish them much happiness and success.

Mr. and Mrs. Dollar, after a visit with the grooms parents will make their home in LaFollette, Tenn.

DRILLING OPERATIONS INDEFINITELY SUSPENDED

On account of lack of cable, the drilling operations on the farm of Dr. O. C. Cook has been indefinitely suspended. The small rig of Caldwell Bros., of Sturgis, which was unable to drill to a greater depth has been moved away. The depth reached by this outfit was 517 1-2 feet.

If certain conditions are met a larger drill will be procured and drilling will be started again soon. Dr. Cook has been assured by competent geologists that oil is to be found at a slightly deeper level.

Dr. Cook and his brother have gone to an enormous expense to develop the oil fields of Crittenden and they now desire that the people of the county who are interested in this development co-operate with them in further extension. The promoters feel that enterprise will tilt this enterprise will be of so much benefit to the community that the citizens should help bear the expense of further development and they are willing to put up an equal sum to that the community raises in order to find the oil that they are certain is there.

Cream Producers Meeting
Saturday July 2nd at 2:00 there will be a cream producers meeting at the Court house in Marion. The committee J. A. Hill, Pete Paris, George Conditt, Vergil Threlkeld and the County Agent have a report to make that will be of interest to every dairy man. Let us have every cream producer there Saturday afternoon. Three important points will be laid before you. Do you know that Marion is geographically situated between five important creamery centers. Her location is splendid for a co-operative cream shipping organization. Be at the court house Saturday.

Now is the time to be thinking about your limestone for this fall. Plan on liming an acre or two just to see what it will do for your land. The County Agent will be glad to help anyone make up the order who is thinking of using a carload or more.

A good meeting was held at Sisco Chapel Friday June 24th. Limestone its use and effect was the subject under discussion. Mr. G. M. Gumbert gave an interesting talk on the subject of limestone. There are several in that community who have decided to try out this fall the effect of limestone on their soils. Let's have every farmer near Sisco Chapel at the next meeting. Something of interest will be discussed at each time.

The good people of Owen School community gathered at their school last Monday evening. Most of them came from their hay fields and many reported the hay crop as rather short this year due to lack of rain at the right stages. The meeting at Owen school comes the fourth Monday each month. Everyone interested in farming invited.

Cover Crops

The chief fertilizing elements include potassium, phosphorus and nitrogen. In the plowed surface of an acre of average Kentucky soil it is worth from five to six thousand dollars at market prices according to specialists of the College of Agriculture who declare that a large amount of this fertility is lost by leaching during the winter months unless the soil is protected by a cover crop.

The soil is a storage house for raw materials which have a commercial value for increasing crop yields. However the farmer can market this fertility only in the crops he grows or in the animals and animal products which he sells.

Nature has provided that only a limited amount of fertility can become available at any one time. Any moist soil has some of the elements of fertility dissolved in the soil surface. It is this dissolved fertility that is plant food. At all seasons of the year there is some plant food in solution. In summer the crops and weeds use the soluble plant food and prevent its leaching. In late summer and fall after the regular crops have ceased growing this soluble plant food in the soil will be lost by leaching if some crop is not grown to use. The same is true in the spring before the regular crops are planted. A winter cover crop prevents a large part of this loss. Plan on your cover crop now for the fall and winter.

CURB BILLBOARD NUISANCE

Rules Adopted by Kansas City for the Proper Regulation of Outdoor Advertising.

Kansas City authorities have drawn up rules for the regulation of "outdoor advertising." Other communities would do well to give the matter careful consideration. Many places have even gone to the length of forbidding the billboard altogether, as a nuisance. Whether such a move is advisable is a mooted question, but all will concede that regulation of some sort is necessary. The Kansas City rules are as follows:

"No waste or other rubbish resulting from any billboard or outdoor advertising sign shall be allowed to accumulate on or in the vicinity of the premises where the same is located.

"Bottoms of all signs shall be at least three feet from the ground.

"No outdoor advertising shall be permitted or allowed to be maintained without an annual license from the division of highways of the department of public works."

None of the foregoing rules shall apply to outdoor advertising which is not within public view of a highway, public park or reservation; nor to signs or other devices erected and maintained in conformity with existing law, advertising or indicating the person occupying the premises in question, or the business transacted thereon, or advertising the property itself or any part thereof as for sale or to let; nor to advertising for public purposes by the commonwealth or any municipality thereof.

Any city or town, by ordinance or by law, may wholly exclude outdoor advertising from specified districts.

Any license may be revoked for a violation of any of these regulations or any provision contained in the license.

It is the opinion of the proponents that a sufficiently large license fee be required to cover the expense of proper superintendence of this business, so that it will not be necessary to license great numbers of these devices. In order to obtain sufficient revenue to cover the proper expense of adequate supervision.

Milwaukee's Shade Trees.

Milwaukee has 82,392 shade trees on its streets and boulevards. This does not include trees in the city parks or on private property. The varieties are: Elm, 45 per cent; soft maple, 18; box elder, 9; basswood, 7; ash, 5; poplar, 4. The forestry department favors elm. Beginning April 1, the department will plant 3,000 trees, of which 2,000 will be elm, 500 Norway maple and 250 each ash and basswood. The trees are planted 35 to 40 feet apart, no tree being planted less than 20 feet from a corner. The cost is assessed to the property owner. The city specifies the variety to be used on each street, so as to obtain uniformity.

Look After the Trees Now.

Industrial communities are prone to undervalue the products of nature—until it is too late. A fine tree is the product of from 20 to 50 years of growth. It cannot be hurried; nature will not hasten her steps at man's wish. No amount of money can speed the development of any tree beyond a certain pace, though money can provide good conditions for growth. To save a tree, therefore, is to save something which only a generation or more can replace.

Model English Towns.

The model industrial town idea, originated some years ago in the United States, is to be applied to a system of industrial garden cities which in time will rim the cities of London. The project is an attempt to solve London's housing problem and at the same time prevent overwhelming congestion in the cities.

POOR BUT PROUD.

"Your new pianist didn't stay long." "I had to let him go," said the manager. "As apt as not he'd be playing a jazz selection when people were dying on the screen. He wouldn't pay any attention to the plot of a photograph."

"Didn't he offer an explanation?" "Oh, yes. He said circumstances compelled him to accept employment in a movie house, but he would be blamed if he'd prostitute his intellect by looking at the pictures."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

That's Different.

Bacon—You're looking fine, old man; what have you been doing? Egbert—I've given up coffee—"Good! I told you long ago you should give it up. There's a reason, you know."

"Well, you see, every time I ate coffee—" "Oh say now; nobody eats coffee." "I say, whenever I ate coffee—cake it gave me indigestion, so I gave up eating it."

Knew What He Was Doing.

Photoplay Writer—But, look here! This character is supposed to be a very homely man, and you have cast for that part the handsomest man in your company.

Director—Oh, he'll be homely enough when the cameraman and the developer get through with him. You see, he's engaged to the star, and both those boys are in love with her.—Film Fun.

A FINANCIAL STRINGENCY

Visiting Statesman: You seem to be suffering a shortage of currency. How do you account for it?

Comrade Ivan Offulitch: Industrial unrest. The counterfeiters of soviet money have gone on strike and demand a daily wage in gold.

Useful Knocking.

We would have less wordy clamor And more roofs to shield our domes If the fellow with the hammer Used it in constructing homes.

She Is Amused.

"Now you know that you, a jazz baby, never intend to marry a college professor." "Maybe not." "Then why let him make love to you?" "Aw, it's such fun to hear a college professor converse in gurgles."

Not the Kind for Present Crisis.

"No," said old Mr. Subbubs. "I can't say that I approve of your match with that city young man."

"But, father, he has such a fine genealogical tree." "What good is that? If it was pine or hickory we might burn it, seein' we can't get any coal."

Precocious.

Flatbush—Do you know when a baby begins to think?

Bensonhurst—Why, sure. Flatbush—Well, when?

Bensonhurst—Mine began to think that I ought to walk the floor with him the first week he arrived in the house.

Might Help.

"Was Shakespeare a poet?"

"I don't care whether that story is true or not," said the erudite person, "but if it is true it's a pity some of our contemporary dramatists can't take a preliminary course in deer-stealing."

Prospects Good.

"Here's a gent writes our mail-order house for a wife."

"Can we fill that order?"

"I think so. One of our young lady clerks has started a coy correspondence with him."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Real Temptations.

"George Washington was a truthful man."

"As far as he got. But no interviewer ever asked him to make a public statement about his golf score or the number of fish he caught."

ACCOUNTED FOR

1st Student: I understand that there is a great deal of kissing on the professors in regard to the compensation they receive.

2nd Student: Aw! They're only mad 'cause they can't write home to their old man for more money.

Our Share.

We can't all smoke high-priced cigars Or own a limousine. But we can all collect the bands And smell the gasoline.

The Differentiation.

"What's the difference between a farmer and a landed proprietor?" asked Mrs. Cornstossel.

"A farmer," replied her husband, "is a man with a hoe and a landed proprietor is a man with a golf club."

CULTIVATE CORN TO HELP YIELD

Thorough, Early Plowing Encourages Plant Growth and Prevents Soil Crusting.

DESTROYS ALL YOUNG WEEDS

Successful Growers Favor Shallow Cultivation, Except Where Excessive Rains Have Packed Soil—Maintain Dust Mulch.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

From the time of germination to maturity corn should be given every opportunity to make a steady, sound growth. If the development of the plants is checked from any cause it may reduce the yield no matter how favorable the later treatment. The most successful corn growers realize the importance of thorough, early cultivation in order to prevent any check in the growth of the plants because of weeds or crusted soil. As a consequence of heavy rainfall, the stalks may increase rapidly in height and at the same time, for lack of cultivation or of soil fertility, or for other reasons, they may be slender, too tender or of poor color. Thrifty corn plants are thick, strong, and of dark-green color.

Use Weeder Soon After Planting. Horse weeders and harrows should be used when needed to break a surface crust, check insect depredations or kill young weeds that start before the corn is up. While the plant is very small, narrow shovels that throw the soil but very little should be used, and fenders are usually desirable to prevent covering the plants.

Experience favors shallow cultivation, except if excessive rains have packed the soil, when deep cultivation will help to dry and aerate the ground. In cultivating it is important to avoid breaking the roots of the plants. If the plants have reached a height of 2 or 3 feet the soil in the middle of the rows should not be cultivated deeper than 4 inches, and sometimes less. For retaining soil moisture a loose soil mulch 2 or 3 inches in depth should be maintained.

The question is frequently asked how often corn should be cultivated.

A Two-Row Wheeled Cultivator Does Effective Work.

The answer is that it should be cultivated often enough to keep down weeds and to maintain constantly a loose soil mulch until the corn has attained its growth. A greater number of cultivations will be necessary when rains at intervals of about a week cause the surface soil to run together and crust. This crust must be broken and the soil mulch restored or evaporation will soon rob the soil of much of its moisture. An essential object of cultivation, is to restore the soil mulch as soon after a rain as the condition of the ground will permit. If the ground becomes hard and baked dry the crop will suffer greatly and when cultivated the dirt will break up into clods.

Many crops are cut short by stopping the cultivation because the corn is too tall for use of a two-row cultivator. If the condition of the soil demands it, shallow cultivation should continue, even though the corn is tasseling. Blocks pulled to the handles will protect the hands from the corn blades. Iron mowing-machine wheels dragged between the rows will sometimes greatly benefit the crop.

Saving of Labor.

With a good riding or walking double cultivator one man can cultivate as many acres as two men with one-horse cultivators. This saving of labor is worth consideration. With a properly constructed wheeled cultivator, covering two rows at a time, one man has often cultivated 15 acres per day.

The shovels with which it is best to equip either single or double cultivators must be determined by the kind of soil, the size of the corn, and size and nature of growth of weeds to be destroyed. For sandy land sweeps are in great favor, and vary from 6 to 30 inches in width. The sweep scrapes along through the soil at a depth of 2 to 3 inches, cutting off weeds and allowing surface soil to pass over them, falling level and flat behind the cultivator.

To the Voters of Crittenden County:

Sullivan, Kentucky, R. F. D. No. 1, June 21, 1921.

Dear Friend:

Owing to my home affairs it seems that I am not going to be able to see all the voters regarding my candidacy in the County Judge's race. After I resigned my place as County Road Engineer I moved back to my old home place, Bells Mines, in the northern part of the county and have been busy with my farm work until now. The time is so short between now and the Primary that I may not be able to visit you at your home, so I am writing you this letter.

Now, I have no formal introduction to make of myself because the people of Crittenden county surely know my ability and my readiness to deal honestly and impartially with the public affairs of the county.

The County Judge is ex-officio chairman of the Fiscal Court of the county. The Fiscal Court fixes all salaries, levies all taxes, etc., besides makes all appropriations for roads and bridges, in short, they pay out all moneys that are paid out of the county funds for all purposes. If I am the County Judge I want to assure the voters and the tax payers of the county that there will be no appropriations of the county's money made until the Fiscal Court has been fully informed as to the advisability of such appropriation.

If I am the County Judge I will feel perfectly free to express my opinion or give my advice in such matters.

In questions connected with the office I will endeavor to inform myself thoroughly and then act fearlessly and unbiased.

Crittenden county is paying a heavy tax. I may not be able to reduce it, but I will bend every effort possible, with the full assistance of the board of Magistrates to get something for the money we are paying out.

My interest is with the farmer, the laborer and the producer, and I will do every thing in my power to see that he gets his share of the tax money paid, in the way of better roads and bridges, schools, churches or other things where the County Judge may have any influence.

I want to be the County Judge for all the people of the entire county regardless of race, creed or color.

If you think from what you know of me by my past work as a public officer of the county, and my qualifications generally that I am the man for the place then I will appreciate your support as much as any man could. I will do all I can to not let our dear old county's interests lag.

Yours for a better Crittenden county,

E. JEFFREY TRAVIS

The SANDMAN STORY

FAT MOUSE'S ESCAPE

MR. FAT MOUSE—his friends called him Fatty for short—decided one day that he would move from the house where he lived in the pantry wall because there were so many mice living in the neighborhood.

"When I first came here," said Fatty to himself one day when he was thinking how hard it was for him to keep fat and round, "there were only five mice living in the wall, and now I cannot count them. It is time for me to move, and I shall look about this very night for a new home."

So when all the other mice were busy running over the pantry shelves

Fatty Mouse ran out of the door and under the kitchen sink, where he found a hole large enough for him to get through.

He jumped into the yard and ran for a long time, and then next night found Fatty in his new home in the pantry of a house far away.

But Fatty Mouse had no home in the wall of this pantry, and he had to hide in the daytime behind boxes and pails and anything he could, for there had never been a mouse in this pantry and there were no nice places to run in when anyone came in the door.

But there was plenty to eat, and Fatty ate all night and slept all day, and he was sure he had found a pleasant place to live in even if he had no companions.

One day while he was resting behind a basket what should happen but that some one came in the pantry and lifted the basket from the floor, and poor Fatty Mouse had to run.

Around and around the pantry he flew while some one chased him with a broom, and a dreadful puss joined in the chase as well.

Just as Fatty was sure he was lost he ran up the side of the flour barrel and jumped to the shelf, and as quick as a flash he ran along to the door, which was open, and with a leap he was in the kitchen.

The outside door was open, and out went Fatty Mouse, and no one found him. All day he rested, and when it was dark he ran back to the house where he had lived so long in the pantry wall.

"It may not be so easy to get food here," he said, as he thought it over when he was safe in the wall, "but it is much safer here, for there are so many mice living here that the other fellow may be caught when they hunt for me."

"When I lived alone in the pantry I was the only one they were after, and my life was not worth a crumb. I shall stay here as long as I live, and never move again, for all mice look alike to rats and people."

HOW DO YOU SAY IT?

By C. N. Lurie

Common Errors in English and How to Avoid Them

"LET YOU AND I DO IT"

DESPITE all the teaching in the schools and in spite of precepts of grammarians, it seems almost impossible to establish among the American people the proper use of the pronouns "I" and "me." For example, the incorrect phrase "between you and me"—instead of "between you and I"—is heard so often that grammarians almost despair of establishing the proper usage. Unaided, they cannot do it; all must help.

"Let you and I go to the theater tonight," we hear. It is incorrect. The correct form is "Let you and me go to the theater tonight," although this may sound queer. The explanation is simple. "Let" is a transitive verb; that is, it must have an object or objects. And the objects in the sentence quoted are "you" and "me" (not "I"). They must, therefore, be in the objective case.

LIVE STOCK FACTS

PARASITES CAUSE BIG LOSS

Injury From Insects Is Greatest Among Lambs and Young Sheep—Ways to Prevent Diseases.

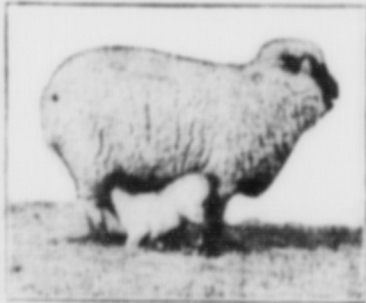

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Sheep probably suffer more than any other kind of live stock from parasites. They are practically immune to tuberculosis, which is one of the serious ailments of cattle and swine, and among sheep there is nothing comparable to the devastating outbreaks of cholera among swine. Sheep have comparatively few bacterial diseases. Nevertheless, there is a steady loss of sheep in all parts of the country and this loss is mostly due to parasites.

It is the sheep owner's business to prevent disease rather than to attempt to cure it after it has made its appearance. While there are special treatments for the various diseases which makes it advisable to call a competent veterinarian, there are a number of ways to prevent diseases caused by parasites. Among these pasture rotation, use of forage crops, feeding from racks or board floors, draining or filling swamps, and preventing wandering dogs from getting into the flock. Permanent pastures perpetuate parasites. It is stated. The eggs of internal parasites pass from the animals in the manure and thus the pastures become infested. The proper disposal of the manure will aid in preventing this.

Damage from parasites is greatest, as a rule, among lambs and young sheep. Hence, it is important to pay special attention to the care and handling of lambs and yearlings. Prompt action to ascertain the cause when sheep become unthrifty will often prevent serious loss.

Parasites of sheep are divided into two general groups, external and internal. Among the former, lice, sheep ticks, and scab mites are the most common. One application of sodium fluoride in the form of a powder rubbed into the skin will kill biting lice, but not sucking lice. Both kinds of lice, sheep ticks, and scab mites are destroyed by dipping the sheep. For lice and sheep ticks a number of dips are recommended in the bulletin, including coal tar creosote, creosol, and nicotine, or nicotine and sulphur. For scab mites the official dips are lime-sulphur and nicotine-sulphur dips. Arsenical dips are not well suited to sheep dipping. All places which have been occupied by lousy sheep should be regarded as dangerous from this standpoint for a period of three weeks; if occupied by ticky sheep, as dangerous for two months; if occupied by scabby sheep, as dangerous for a month or two in the case of pastures, and a year or more in the case of buildings. Quarantine measures are essential in eradicating scab.

The most common internal parasites of sheep include tapeworms, flukes, roundworms, and a few other forms such as maggots causing grub in the head, the tongue-worm and the one-celled protozoa. One of the most common of these is the grub, infestation with which can be largely prevented by smearing the nose of the sheep with a preparation made of equal parts of tar and grease, or tar and fish oil. Other important internal parasites discussed in the bulletin are tapeworms, the gid parasite, hydatid, liver flukes, stomach worms, nodular worms, hookworms, and lungworms. Of these, certain tapeworms are fairly common over the entire United States; one tapeworm occurs only in the West; gid is most prevalent in Montana; liver flukes are most common in the Gulf states and the Pacific Coast states; stomach worms and lungworms take a heavy toll in sheep in almost every state in the Union, and nodular worms and hookworms are common in the South and East.

Illinois Central System Makes an Appeal to Shippers and Consignees

The amount paid out by the railroads on account of loss and damage to freight represents an economic waste burdensome alike to the railroads and the public. That this waste is substantial is shown by the following record of the loss and damage payments made by Class 1 roads:

1916	$ 23,346,965
1917	35,079,757
1918	55,852,797
1919	104,507,174
1920	104,398,930

The Illinois Central System has borne its share of the economic waste on account of loss and damage to freight, as will be seen by examining these figures:

1916	$ 655,293
1917	1,077,720
1918	1,653,706
1919	2,298,250
1920	2,745,099

The foregoing figures show how the problem of loss and damage to freight has got out of hand. The Illinois Central System, in common with other railroads, is making a determined effort to reduce this drain upon its revenues. In this we need the painstaking co-operation of shippers and consignees. We, therefore, earnestly request that all shippers and receivers of freight co-operate with us to make this movement a success.

During May, 1921, 68 percent of the amount paid out for loss and damage to freight on the Illinois Central System was on carload shipments. We request carload shippers to insist upon being provided with cars suitable for the particular kind of freight they desire to ship and to see that shipments are properly braced and stowed in cars to prevent damage by shifting.

We request shippers of less-than-carload freight to comply with the rules and specifications of the Consolidated Classification Committee appointed by the Interstate Commerce Commission by selecting substantial containers in which to pack their goods for shipment, so that packages may not be crushed and contents damaged when loaded into cars with other freight. We request them to mark their packages plainly as to name of consignee and destination, removing all old marks that may appear on packages, and to furnish legible billing orders, so that billing may indicate clearly the name of consignee and destination. We also request them to deliver their goods at freight depots early in the day to avoid hurried loading and billing.

The president of a large wholesale house on the lines of the Illinois Central System was told by one of our agents that many packages were being sent back to his house on account of improper packing and addressing. He expressed great surprise and immediately called in his shipping clerk to ask him in the presence of our agent how many packages were being returned from the Illinois Central System daily. The shipping clerk replied: "I cannot tell you exactly, but a yood many." As a result of this interview, the necessary corrective measures were immediately applied.

We request receivers of freight to observe the character of containers used by shippers and the manner in which goods are packed, crated and marked, particularly when goods are not received in good order, and to make those facts known to the shippers, appealing to them to use good containers on the ground that defective goods and delayed transportation service cause them a loss of trade. We also request receivers of freight to notify our representatives promptly of any concealed loss or damage to their shipments in order that immediate investigation may be made. Some receivers of freight neglect to do this for days and even weeks, after shipments have been received, rendering it difficult for the proper inspection and investigation to be made. This militates against good service.

Our purpose in presenting this problem to our patrons is to enable us to render a better service, by eliminating delay in the delivery of freight in good condition, and to assist in reducing the cost of transportation. By no means do we claim that all of the trouble is due to lack of care on the part of shippers and consignees. We are doing everything within our power to correct abuses for which we are responsible. We are putting forth our best efforts to render a service of satisfaction. By working closely with shippers and receivers of freight, we believe it possible to bring the troublesome question of loss and damage under control, to the great advantage of shippers and receivers of freight, as well as to this railroad.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

C. H. MARKHAM,
President, Illinois Central System.
